

chick /chik/ n. 1 young bird. 2 derog. slang young woman

girls are not chicks

coloring book

Jacinta Bunnell & Julie Novak

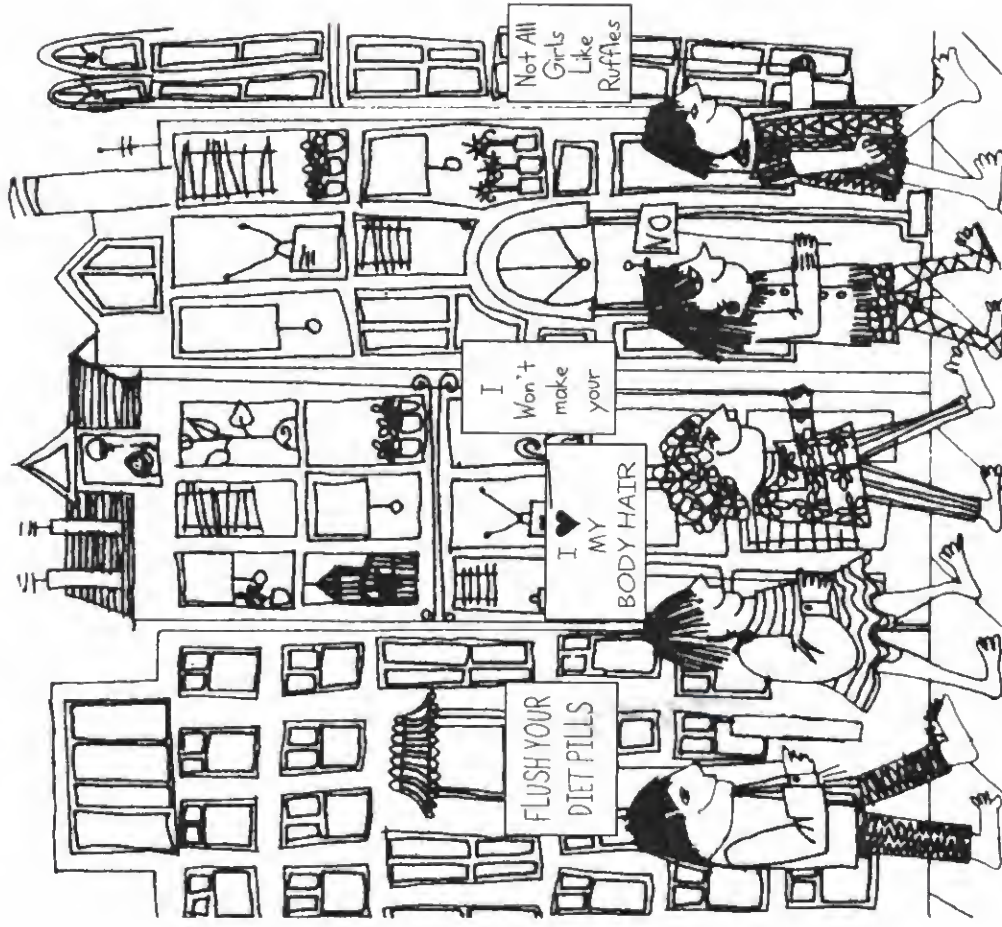

Jacinta is a rehabilitated and reformed cheerleader who now has pep rallies for every girl who disputes school rules and decides to play football. She aspires to someday have good friends like Jo Polniaczek from Facts of Life, Leroy Johnson from Fame and Red Fraggle from Fraggle Rock. When not making coloring books, she is a world class Super Hero with 1,900 super powers.

Julie is a rehabilitated and reformed teenage girl who successfully survived the public school system and now wears her hair really, really short and doesn't feel self-conscious about it. She hopes that the young people of the world never lose the wisdom and imagination they are born with.

THE LADIES' AUXILIARY HAD ORGANIZED THEIR LAST BAKE SALE.

NOW THEY WERE TAKING TO THE STREETS.

girls are not chicks coloring book

©2003

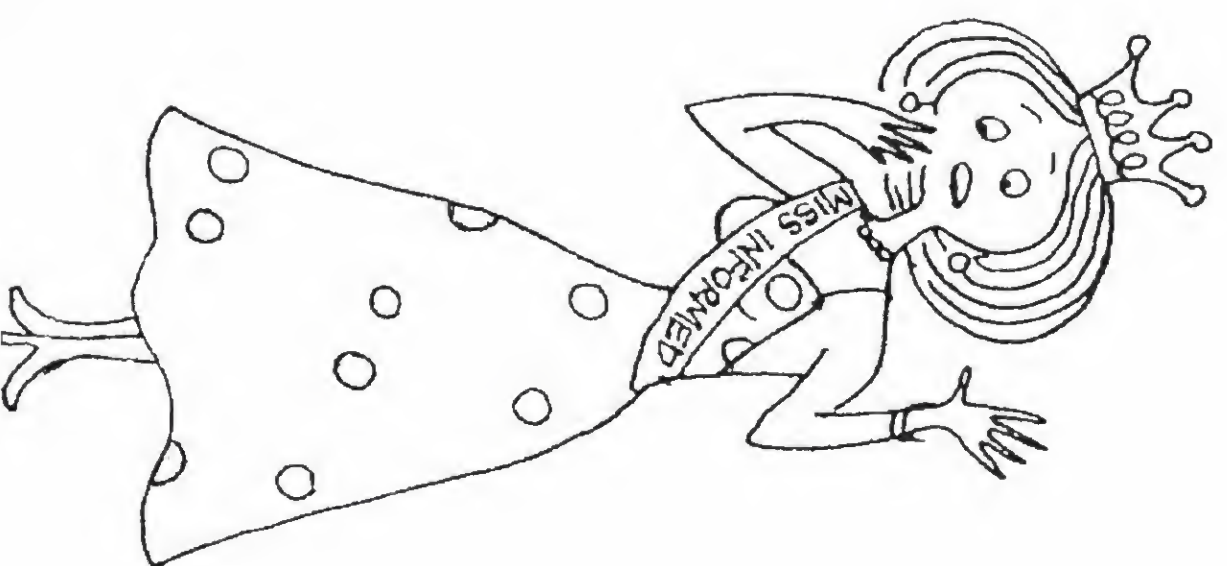

www.girlsnotchicks.com

chorusofcrayons@yahoo.com

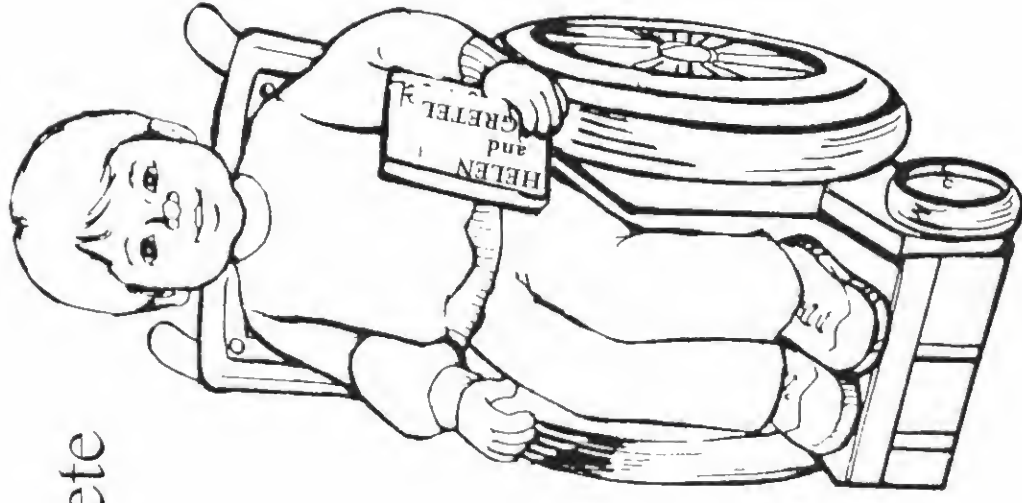

Jacinta Bunnell and Julie Novak
PO Box 325 • Rosendale NY 12472

We have had enough of books that make girls think that they are not any good. We have had enough of books that make girls think that they are too young, too old, too fat, too ugly, too bold, too loud, too independent. We like books that ask girls to take pride in ourselves. Those of us who have been raised as or identify as girls have often been given the idea that there is something wrong, weak and limited about being a girl or woman. This is not and never has been true. Girls are not chicks. Girls are thinkers, creators, fighters, healers and superheroes.

Jacinta & Julie

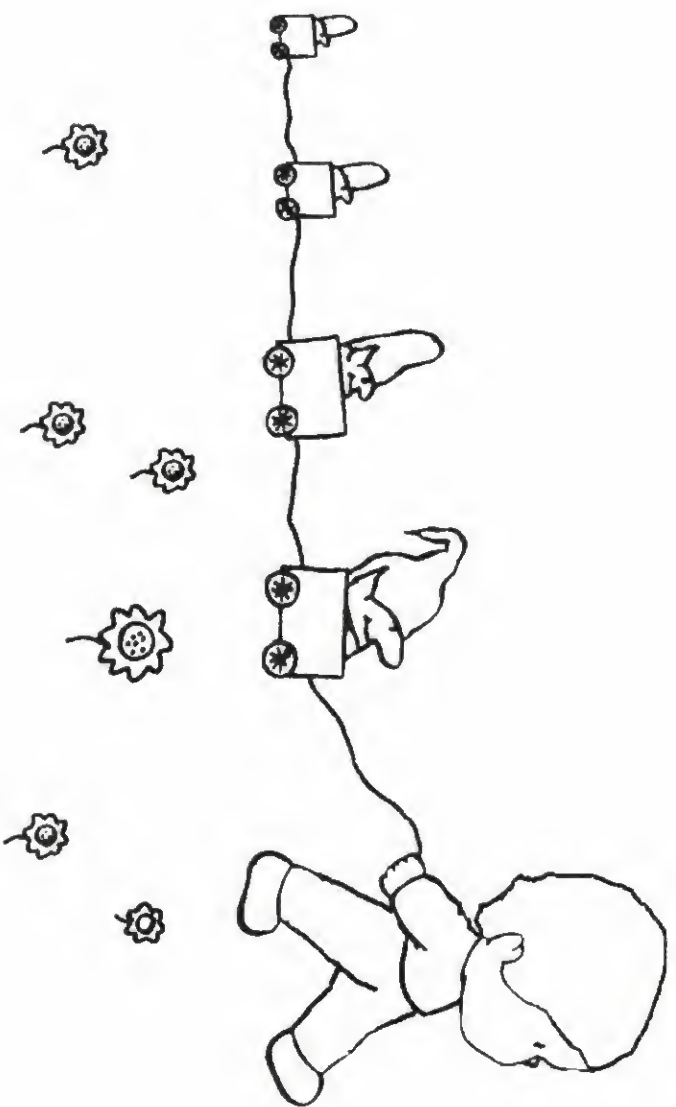

Annia gave a complete
overhaul to all her
books, taking out
the helpless
princess plots
and giving the
witches back
their power
to heal children,
not trick them.

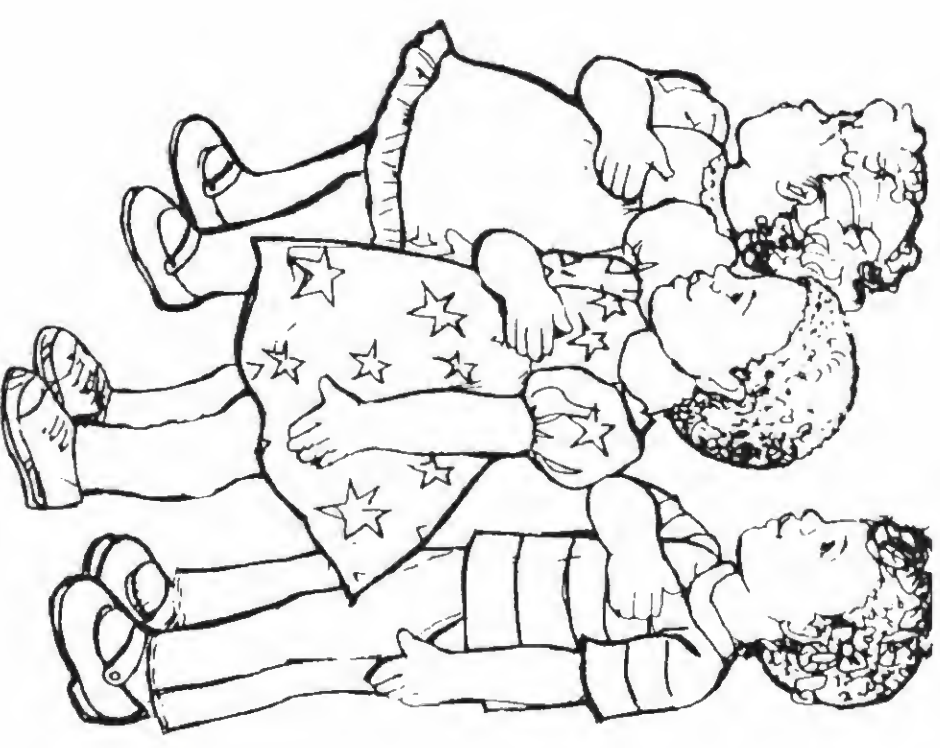

*for Keetin, Zia and Sophia
who inspire us to break free*

Zia rounded up all the ill-tempered dictators
and ran them promptly out of town.

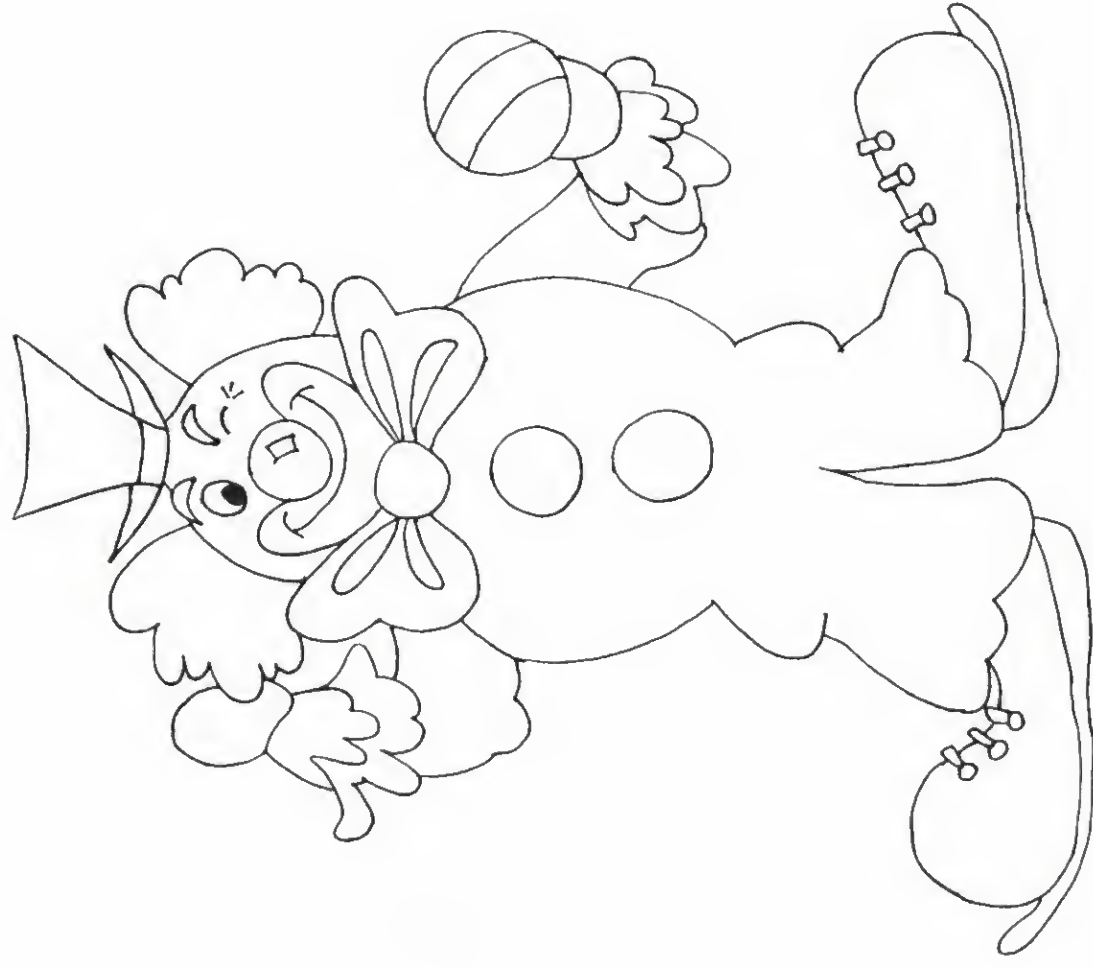

We pledge allegiance...

to all-girl bands, pro choice rallies
and witchcraft

When she stopped chasing
the dangling carrot
of conventional femininity,
she was finally able
to savor being a woman.

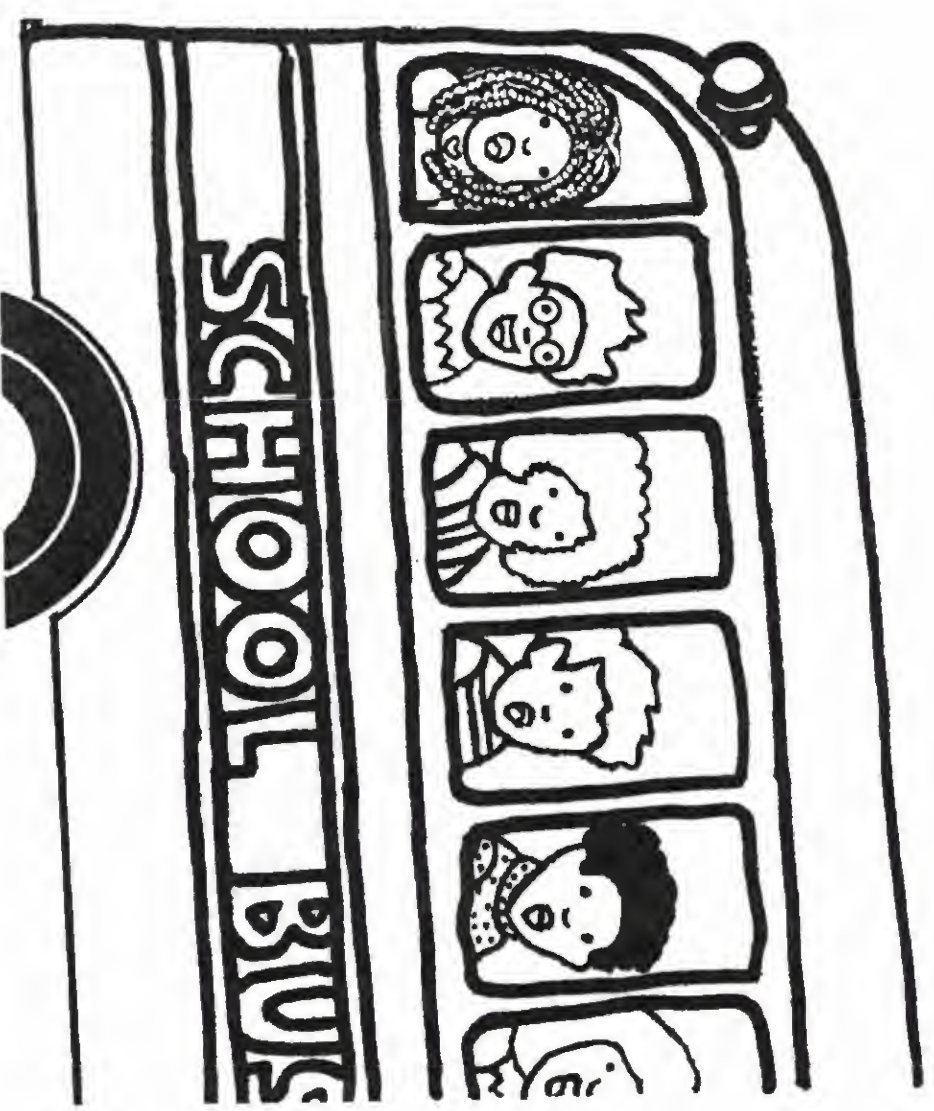

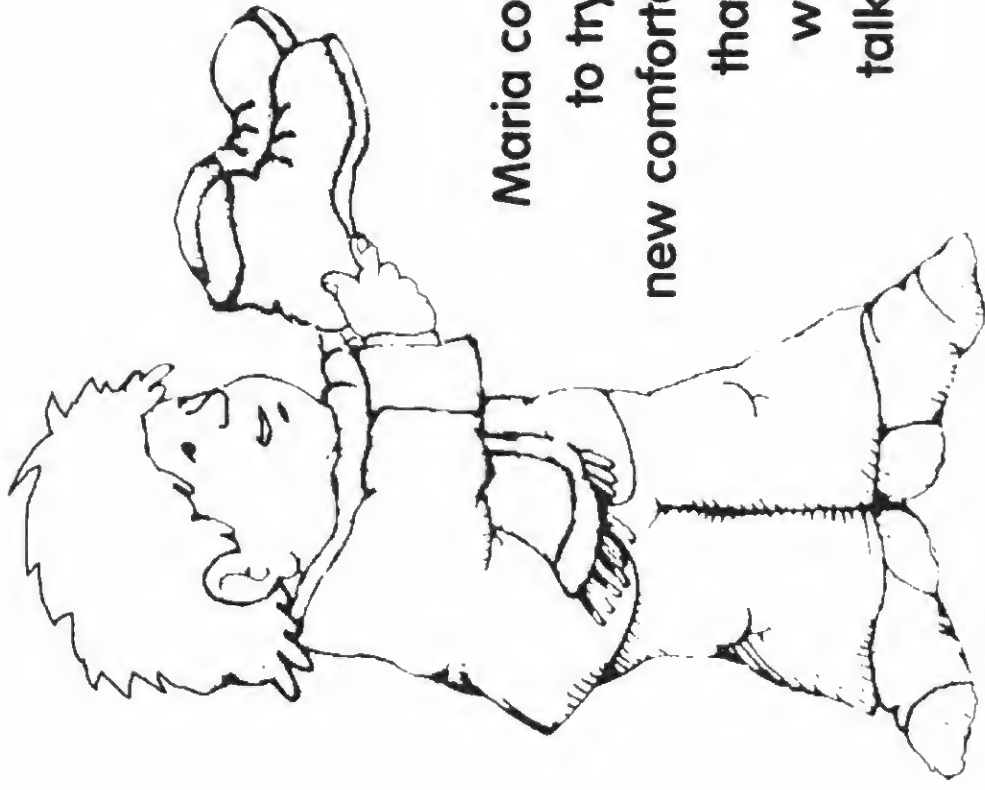

Not all girls who like makeup
grow up to be dainty young ladies.

Underneath the fashionable clothing which she had hidden behind all these years, Sophia found an enthusiastic liking for her own body.

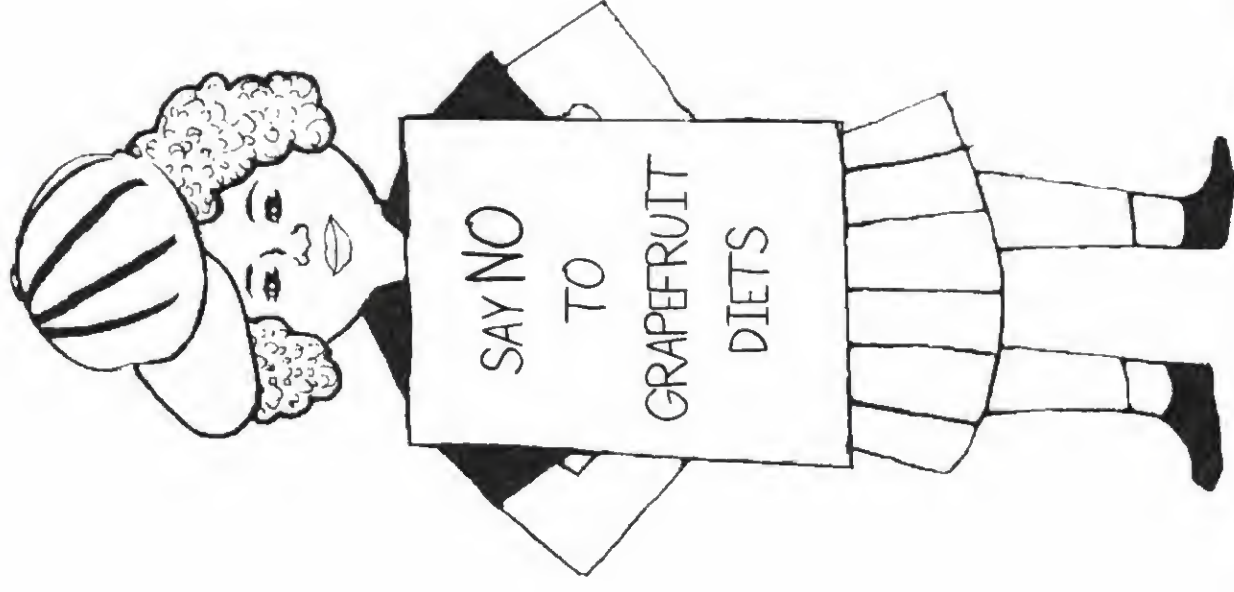

They boycotted the bus and started their own school which had music, drama and co-ed football.

Maria couldn't wait
to try out those
new comfortable shoes
that everyone
was so busy
talking about.

Stand Up. Speak Out. Be Unruly.

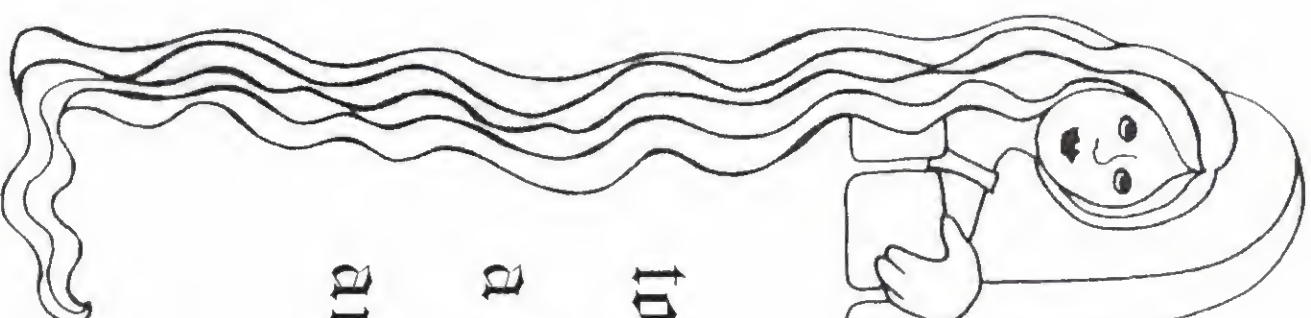

Hold hands and run all the way to karate class.

Build a truck out of billboards, fill it with diet soda, and drive it to the dump.

Cover the bathroom scale with plastic dinosaurs and action figures.

Love each other.

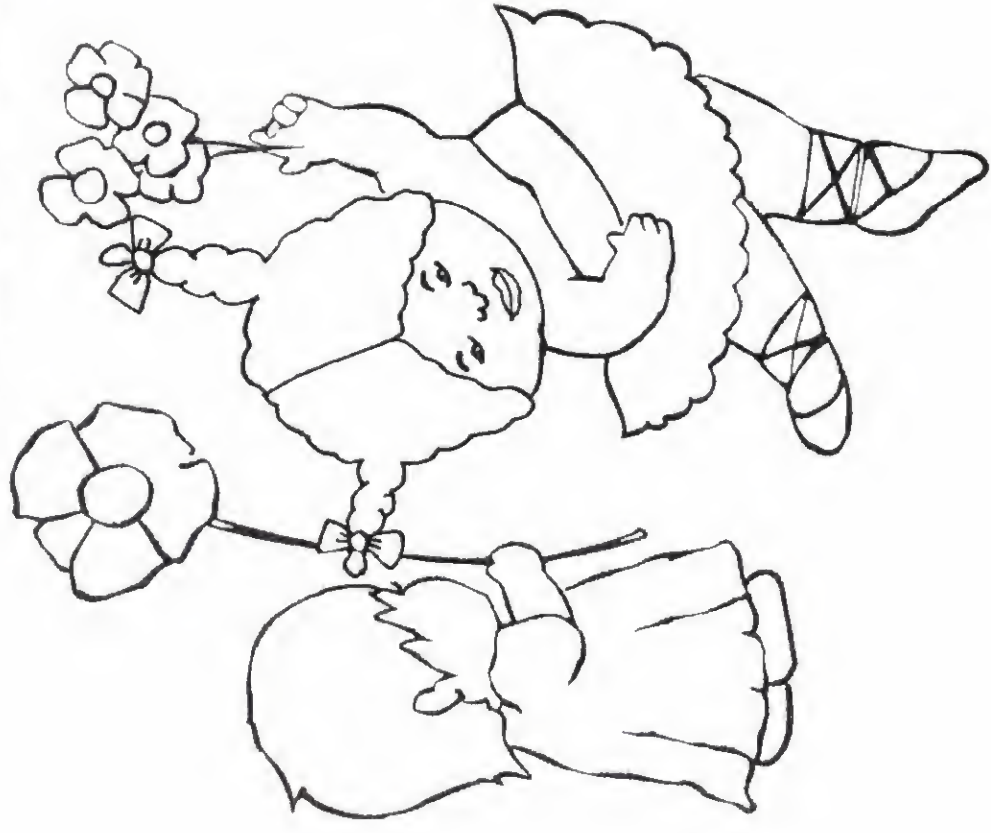

This time,
she had some power
tools, a roll of duct tape,
a Tina Turner album
and a bus pass.

No one wants to fight
patriarchy alone.

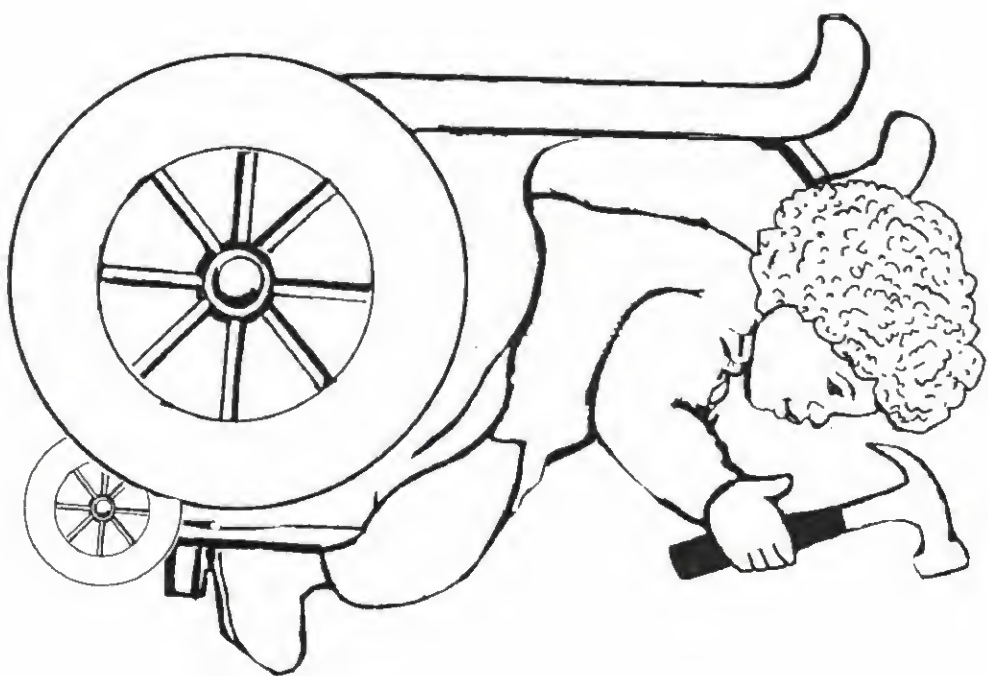

I ain't moving
from this tuffet.

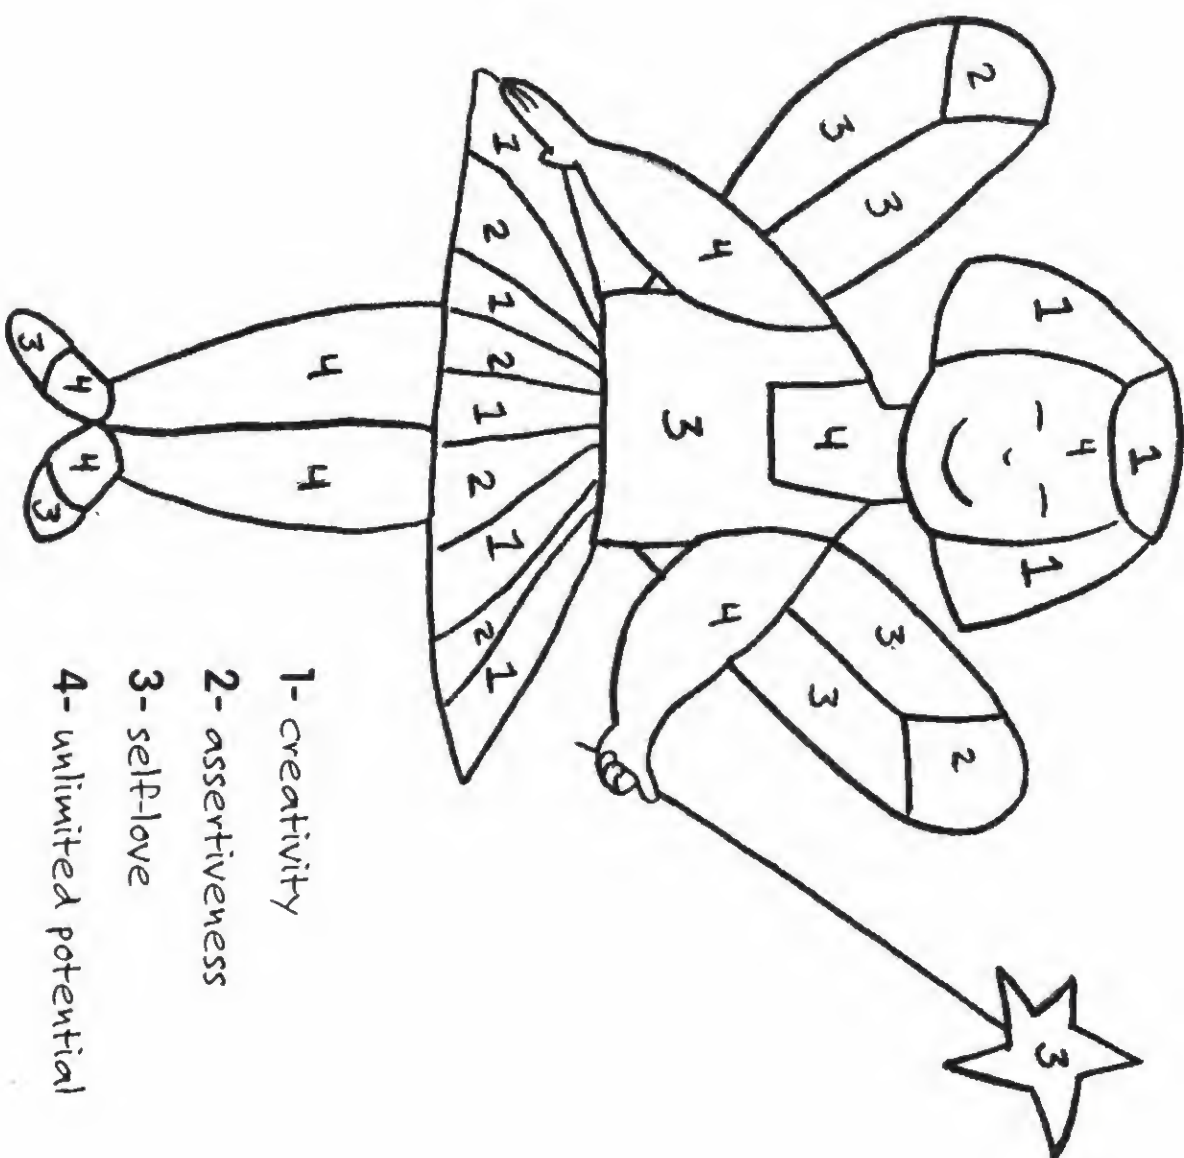

Make friends.

Shirley took her Barbie down to the toy swap

and traded it in for something
a bit less destructive.

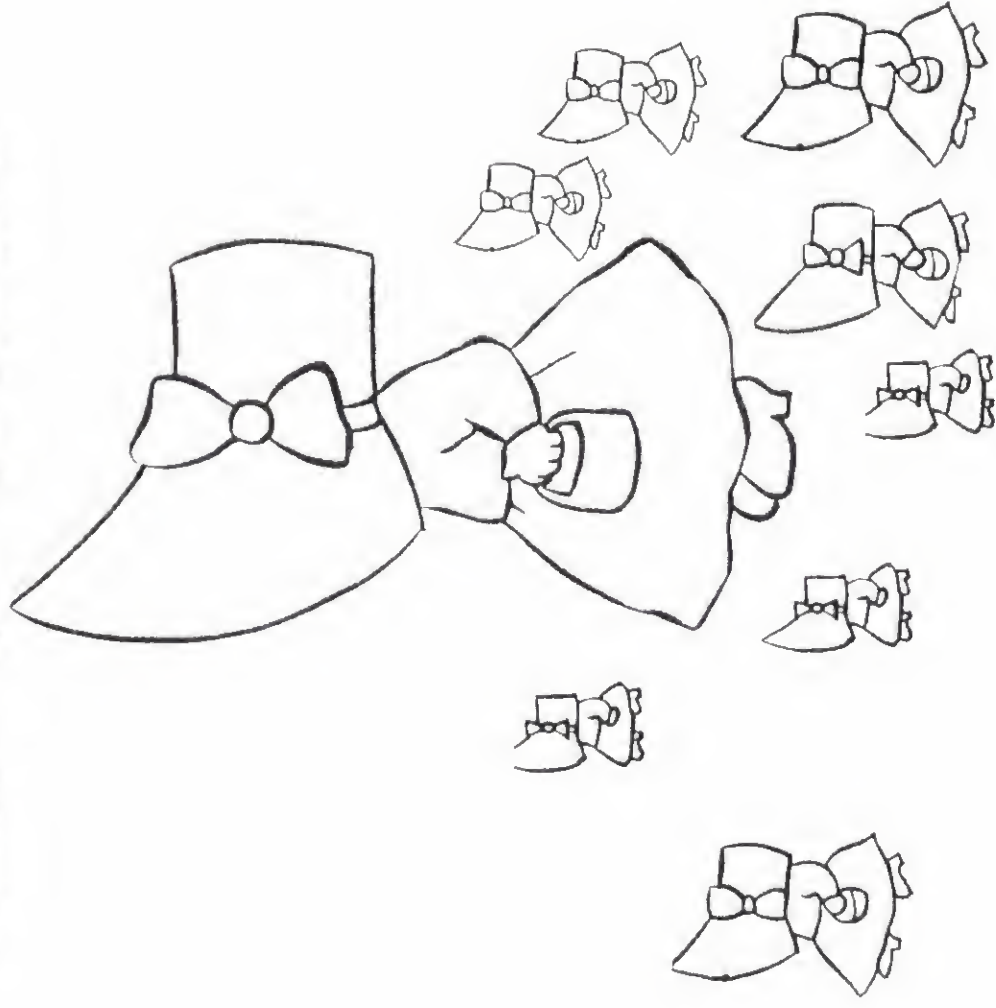

1-creativity

2-assertiveness

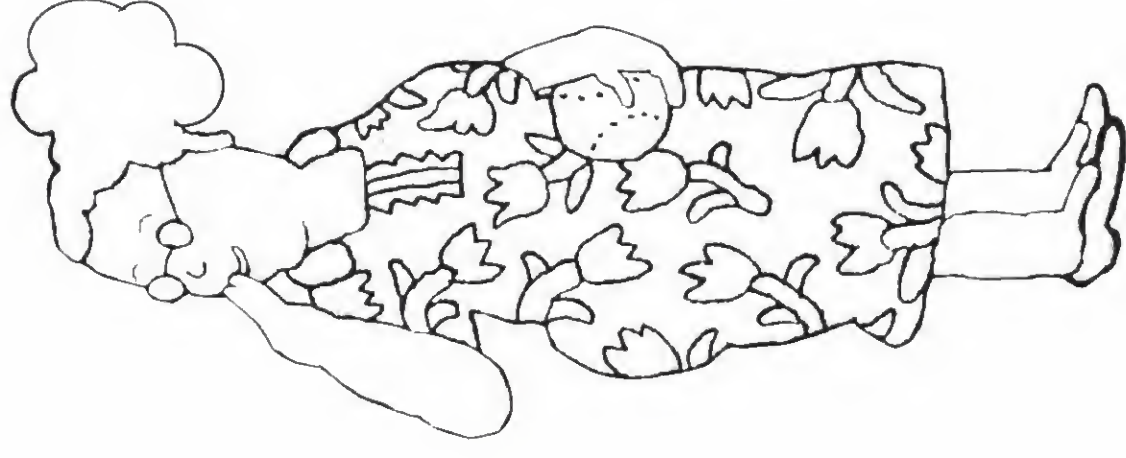

3-self-love

4-unlimited potential

“High Heels and Handbags Cloning Project” got you down?

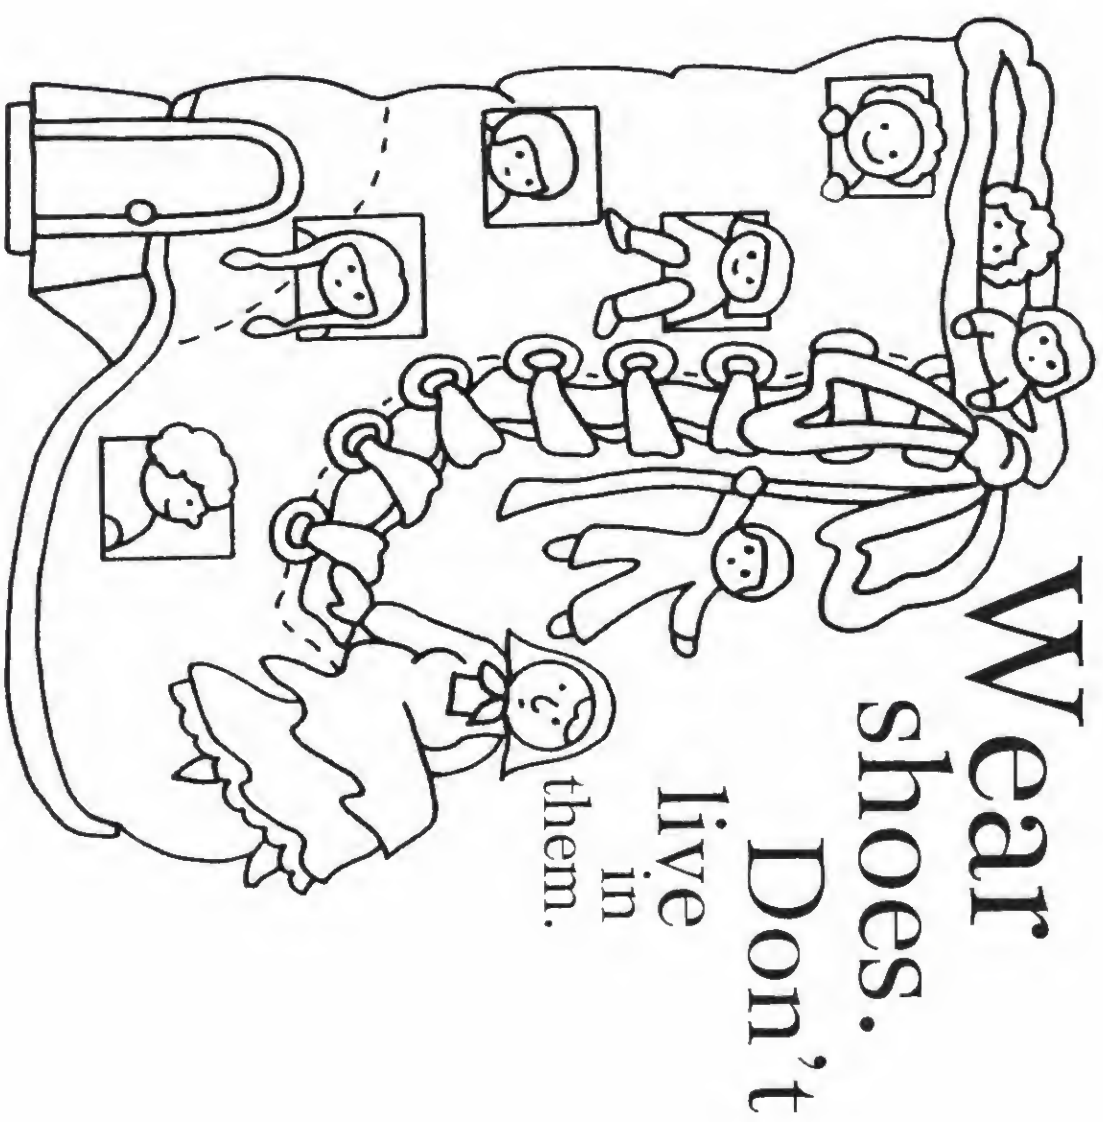

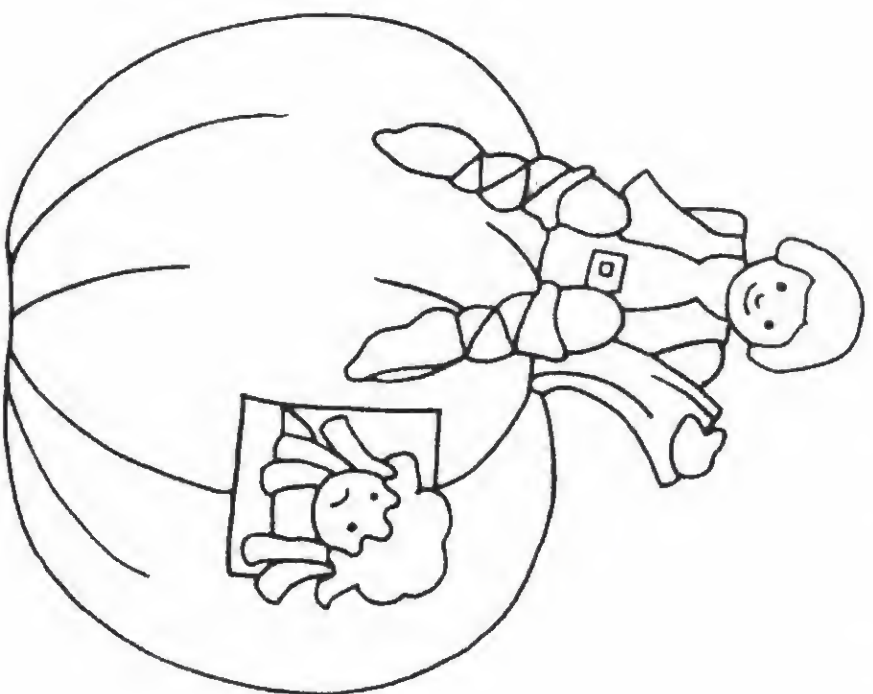

Try emancipation.

*From the sneaky look in her eye,
we just knew Alex wasn't going to show
for the quilting bee today.*

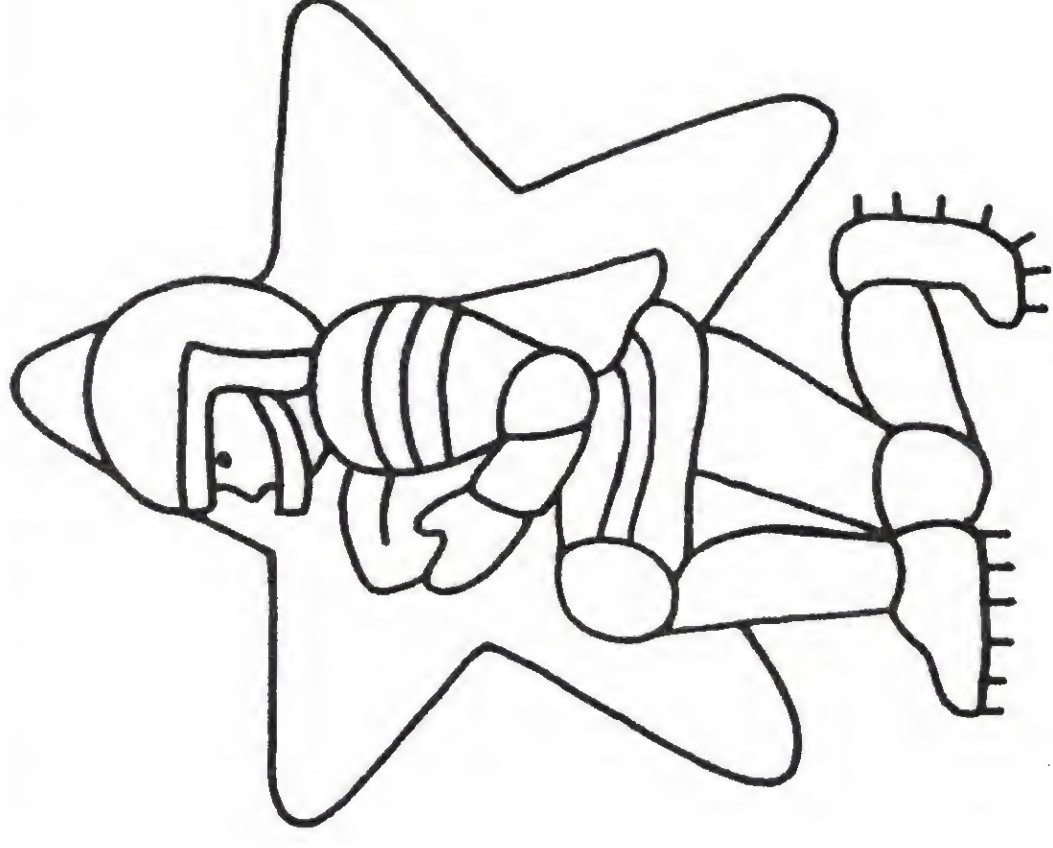

Don't get trapped
inside someone else's
pumpkin.

Who says girls
don't like to play
in the dirt?

SAKINA SCRIMMAGES
SENSATIONALLY
ON SUPER BOWL SUNDAY

Violet puts food
on the table with
tractors not teaspoons.

BIG WAVES
aren't just
for boys

